POLICE HAVE STRANGE CASE

Charles S. Shoebridge Drowned, and Veins Cut

MAY BE A MURDER MYSTERY

Some of Man's Pockets Were Turned Inside Out and an Inside Vest Pocket Was Cut—New York Police in Case.

New York, Oct. 19.—Charles S. Shoebridge, until recently private secretary to R. C. Wilson, general manager of Munn & Co., publishers of the Scientific American, and widely known among magazine men, it became known yesterday, was the victim picked up Tuesday night on the Oakwood beach, Staten Island. His body, removed to the West Brighton morgue was identified by Mr. Wilson and others. There it was found that veins in each wrist had been cut, though the arteries were not severed, as was stated at the time the body was found.

Dr. George Mord, who performed an autopsy, announced that death had been caused by drowning. The wounds on the wrists had nothing to do with it. Yet the police could not form an opinion whether the case was one of suicide or murder. While they said some of the pockets of the man were turned inside out and an inside vest pocket cut, they would not undertake to call the case one of murder.

"I do not think that this is a case of suicide," said Coroner Jackson. "The fact that two wallets were found, both empty, that they had been cut open with a knife, and that the secret pocket of the waistcoat had been rifled, indicate to me that the man was murdered."

"It looks to me as if the man had been a passenger on some steamer. No doubt he was carrying a large amount of money in that secret pocket. This was probably known to his slayers, who, after killing and robbing him, slashed his wrists to give the crime the appearance of suicide and then tossed the body overboard."

Mr. Shoebridge's home was at 516 West 142d street, in a boarding house, where he had lived for six years. The present landlady, who has been there for two months, knew very little about him, for he kept to himself, and she could tell nothing of him when asked yesterday. In fact, the only information she had was that he was employed by the American Magazine.

He was there for a long time as the private secretary to Mr. Wilson, who was the manager. He went with the manager to the Munn company some two years ago. But about one year ago he quit the employ of Mr. Wilson. It has not been learned what he did since. Yet his friends were surprised when they heard yesterday that he was dead. Those who knew him well insisted that he could not have committed suicide. They said that he was a man of strong will power, happy, and prosperous, so that they knew of no cause for suicide.

Mr. Wilson told the police in West Brighton that Shoebridge was something of an athlete, and kept himself constantly in good condition. He never drank, carrying his objections to stimulants so far that he would not take coffee. One reason for Mr. Wilson's interest in the case was the fact that the victim had been missing since Monday. While Mr. Shoebridge had not been employed by him recently they were friends and met often. It was also stated at the boarding house on Washington Heights that Shoebridge had not been in his room since Monday morning.

INDEPENDENTS BARRED OUT

Not to Participate in Tobacco Trust Reorganization

BUT MAY MAKE OBJECTIONS

Memorandum Was Handed Down in U. S. Circuit Court in New York Yesterday Afternoon After Independents Had Been Heard.

New York, Oct. 19.—The so-called independents will not be allowed to intervene in the American Tobacco company's plan for reorganization, as the United States circuit court handed down a memorandum to that effect yesterday afternoon after Felix Levy and Louis Brandeis, counsel for three associations, had filed a petition stating their opposition to the plan.

Independents will, however, be given an opportunity to present their objections at a public hearing October 30.

The petition was filed in the name of the National Cigar Leaf Tobacco association, the Cigar Manufacturers' association of America and the Independent Tobacco Salesmen's association of America.

GROCERS' TRUST ENDED.

Forbidden to Coerce Manufacturers or to Fix Selling Price.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 19.—In a "consent decree" handed down by the circuit court for the northern district of Alabama Tuesday, the Southern Wholesale grocers' association, prosecuted under the Sherman law, is forbidden from coercing manufacturers to sell only to association members or those whom it recognizes as wholesalers and is prohibited against conspiracy to maintain or to coerce manufacturers to fix limited selling prices.

The suit against the Southern Grocers' Wholesale association was begun by the government on June 15 of last year, when a petition against the organization was filed at Birmingham, alleging that its members had formed a combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade. The association consists of various firms and corporations engaged in the wholesale grocery business in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and the District of Columbia. The government in its suit alleged that the defendants combined to raise prices to wholesalers to prevent manufacturers and producers from selling direct to retailers and consumers, and that they blacklisted the merchants who refused to accede to their terms. A system of rebates to wholesalers is alleged to have covered fifteen states and territories.

AID FROM WEST.

Cincinnati Tobacco Men Are Against Reorganization.

Cincinnati, Oct. 19.—Representatives of Cincinnati independent tobacco men have joined hands with tobacco associations of the country to prevent the reorganization of the American Tobacco company on the lines proposed, by starting a subscription list to help finance the legal battle against the trust in the United States circuit court of New York. The action of the Cincinnati men originated in the receipt of a letter from Charles Emory Long of the board of directors of the National Cigar Leaf association by Cincinnati tobacco men, informing them that the plan proposed by the American Tobacco company was not favorable to the interests of the trade and least of all to the public. The letter stated that Attorneys Louis B. Brandeis of Boston and Felix H. Levy of New York had been engaged to look after the interests of the independent men and co-operation as requested.

PLEA FOR THE INDIANS

Made by John G. Brady, Former Governor of Alaska, To-day.

Lake Mohonk, N. Y., Oct. 19.—In addressing the Lake Mohonk conference of friends of the Indian and other dependent peoples to-day, John G. Brady, former governor of Alaska, speaking of conditions among the Alaska Indians, said in part as follows:

"But few more important questions can, at this time, be offered than the present indefinite and unclarified status of the natives of Alaska."

"Almost every family among those people has a fine American flag and on all gala occasions it is flung to the breeze. They observe Memorial day and the Fourth of July with great interest. I am confident that the country could find no more willing and brave defenders if their services were asked."

"But to-day these progressive, self-supporting people have no political status. They remain as they were classified forty-four years ago—'Uncivilized tribes.' Soon after our occupation of the country with a military force it was declared Indian country and the natives were left to govern and care for themselves. The organic act which extended the civil law failed to define their position only providing that they should not be disturbed in the possession of land then held or claimed by them."

"No inquiry has been made into their rights with a view of treating them justly. In many places their ancient fishing grounds have been entered and appropriated against their feeble protests. By the use of traps attached to piles driven by pile drivers along the shores where the salmon run as they approach from the sea to enter their spawning, the fish are taken easily, and the services of the natives are becoming less and less in demand. They have protected but they have not been heard."

"They are now held amenable to the laws of the district, are tried in the courts for crimes and sued for debts, are compelled to pay license as the whites for doing business and they pay the government stampage on cordwood and saw logs and, at Sitka, at least, they work out a road tax."

"Some natives who were fishing upon Chicago island found rich gold quartz, but knowing they could not locate their discovery as citizens, they were obliged to get others who were citizens to locate and share the claim with them."

Before Allowing an Operation

Please Read These Two Letters.

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before. Then after all that suffering Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored her health.

HERE IS HER OWN STATEMENT.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement—I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief, and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. To-day I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise every woman who is afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. Orville Rock, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Mich.

"There never was a worse case."

Rockport, Ind.—"There never was a worse case of woman's ills than mine, and I cannot begin to tell you what I suffered. For over two years I was not able to do anything. I was in bed for a month and the doctor said nothing but an operation would cure me. My father suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so to please him I took it, and I improved wonderfully, so I am able to travel, ride horseback, take long rides and never feel any ill effects from it. I can only ask other suffering women to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation."—Mrs. Margaret Meredith, R. F. D. No. 3, Rockport, Ind.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

PURSuing WISE COURSE IN THE PHILIPPINES

Declared Vice-President Sherman in Address Before Mohonk Lake Conference Yesterday Afternoon.

Mohonk Lake, N. Y., Oct. 19.—In the opening address before the Lake Mohonk conference of friends of the Indian and other dependent peoples yesterday, James S. Sherman, vice-president of the United States, spoke in part as follows:

"I believe that a study of conditions to-day in the Philippines, as compared with a dozen years ago, will convince the most skeptical that we are and have been pursuing the wise course, and we have brought to these brown people over the sea blessings which they never could have acquired had they remained under Spanish rule or been left to themselves. No one can truthfully deny that the Philippines are to-day well governed. They have 500,000 children enrolled in their schools, and besides their primary and secondary schools, industrial education has been so far advanced that about 100,000 pupils are receiving instruction in the useful arts."

"When we took possession of these islands, many different dialects were used by the people, only seven per cent speaking Spanish. To-day more people speak English than Spanish or any one of the native dialects, and English will soon be the language of the islands."

"A thousand miles of railways have been begun, more than half of this being completed."

"The finances of the people are in a healthy state and a large avenue is now made possible through tariffs and a system of internal revenue taxes."

"Complaint is often made concerning the cost of the Philippines to us, but, as the president recently said, the entire expense of the civil government is now being paid out of the taxes raised in the islands. The only expense that our national government has at all is the added cost of maintaining that part of the army which is in the Philippines, including transporting them thither and back. This costs less than five million dollars a year."

"The army which we maintain is by no means too large, even if we did not have the Philippines. It does not exceed one soldier in a thousand persons. Therefore, the only additional cost is that of maintenance in such distant islands and the transportation. The estimate of this added cost has been placed at about $254 more per man in the Philippines than at home."

"With 15,000 soldiers in the Philippines at $250 a man, it would amount to three million, seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars to discharge our seemingly manifest duty."

Speaking of Indian matters, Mr. Sherman said:

"During the last half century we have conducted the affairs of the Indians systematically and progressively."

"Every agreement between the Indians and the government has been carried out, honest and intelligent supervision has brought them to a state of contentment. Millions of dollars spent for their education and their industrial welfare have been well invested, as evidenced by their progress along lines of civilization. I am sincere in the belief that the progress of the American Indian in the past fifty years has been greater, numbers considered, in all paths leading to enlightenment and betterment of condition, than of any uneducated people on the face of the earth."
